

Dr. Brooke Friedman Joins the Distinguished Providers of San Diego Fertility Center®

Dr. Friedman, a Princeton- and Stanford-educated physician, brings her compassionate care and medical expertise to one of the world's most advanced fertility facilities.

Dr. Brooke Friedman, a double board certified physician in Obstetrics & Gynecology and Reproductive Endocrinology & Infertility, is proud to join the world-class team of providers at the San Diego Fertility Center \(SDFC\). Dr. Friedman's presence will help the practice continue moving forward in its mission to provide exceptional, personalized fertility treatments while also maintaining its status as one of the top fertility centers in San Diego.

"I am very proud to join the fantastic team at San Diego Fertility Center," says Dr. Friedman. "I look forward to the opportunity to continue to deliver excellent fertility care and cutting-edge treatment to patients in San Diego and around the world."

Dr. Friedman graduated summa cum laude from Princeton University and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa – the nation's oldest and most prestigious honor society. She then attended the University of California San Francisco Medical School and was a member of the highly selective Alpha Omega Alpha, a prestigious honor society recognizing excellence in medicine. Dr. Friedman completed her residency in Obstetrics & Gynecology at Stanford University Medical Center, where she also served as Chief Resident, and then completed a Stanford fellowship in Reproductive Endocrinology & Infertility.

Dr. Friedman maintains a strong reputation for compassionate, individualized care. She has been honored with several patient-voted awards including: the Vitals' "Patients' Choice Award", the "Compassionate Doctor Recognition" award, and the "Top Ten Physicians" award. Her commitment to strong relationships with patients helps her create fertility treatment plans that meet individual needs and ultimately lead to a successful family building experience. She is thrilled to bring her approach to an expanding group of patients in her new role.

"I am extremely excited about helping San Diego Fertility Center continue to expand," she says in response to the clinic's significant growth and upcoming expansion. "And I look forward to caring for patients in the brand new San Diego Fertility Center facility which will be opening in 2016."

Dr. Friedman looks forward to seeing patients beginning xx/xx/2015.

About San Diego Fertility Center

Located in Southern California, San Diego Fertility Center is an internationally recognized fertility treatment center. SDFC's infertility specialists are named among the top fertility doctors by a variety of publications, and are leaders in IVF (in vitro fertilization), egg donation, egg freezing, ICSI, male infertility and PGD (preimplantation genetic diagnosis).

SDFC's passion is to encourage fertility clinic patients to hold on to their dreams by creating miracles every day. They are also committed to offering cutting edge technology in a private and personal environment using intelligence, integrity, and innovation. The center is easily accessible from local communities including La Jolla and Encinitas or points further like Murrieta and Temecula. SDFC also welcomes out-of-state patients and provides fertility tourism and fertility travel accommodations for patients all over the world.